A perfect union between the classic Ribera style and the meatier, fruitier, riper black berries of the new style. A typical Crianza wine.

Trial analysis

Meaty, velvety wine, with a lot of personality. A fireworks of fruity aromas - ripe gooseberry - and a lot of spices. This fruit is supported by a nice acidity, typical of Tempranillo, and some wood notes. No body-built in the least, rather a subtle, well-balanced terroir wine.
